IPE Magazine Introduction

An unparalleled channel for investment managers and other service providers to deliver their message to Europe's pensions community

Investment & Pensions Europe is the monthly magazine for those running pension funds in Europe. Since our first issue in 1997, we have built an influential position within the European institutional investor community, and the publication has an average monthly circulation of 9,723 copies, of which 69% is in Continental Europe.

From the start, we recognised Europe's demographic problems and the role pension funds play in meeting them. Over the years, we have provided clear, authoritative and well researched editorial coverage of all important investment and regulatory trends, including the introduction of the euro, the rise of multi-specialist asset management, the advent of liability-driven investment and the enactment of the first EU Directive on pension funds.

More recently, IPE has turned its attention to the profound asset allocation and risk-related changes that have taken place since the crisis of 2008-09, and to the accompanying regulatory changes. We have led the charge with authoritative coverage on smart beta and the increased use of alternative risk premia, the rise of alternative credit and diversification within fixed income allocations, and the increased interest in real assets.

Through our unique country reports, we explain the most important regulatory and legislative changes in key pension markets and showcase how leading pension funds are addressing their challenges.

Each issue of IPE is packed with high-calibre proprietary research of asset managers' outlooks, capabilities and strategies, with two key research supplements each year in the form of the IPE Top 400 Asset Managers and the Top 1000 Pension Funds reports. We also publish regular supplements on key topical subjects.

Over the years, IPE has built a unique and comprehensive database of pension funds on a country-by-country basis, and we continually develop and refine this to ensure we have the most comprehensive and well-targeted readership.

In addition to the decision makers at all leading pension funds, we have a significant readership among insurance companies and other institutional investors, including sovereign wealth funds, private banks, family offices, foundations and charities. Investment managers, fiduciary managers and consultants also form an important part of our readership.

Our readers also include top opinion formers in government, public service, academia, pension fund associations and other professional and trade bodies. Our readership also includes suppliers of services and products to the institutional investment community, such as banks, custodians and index and technology providers, among others.

Editorial Overview 2017

IPE's target audience is Europe's institutional investment community. Each month, our experienced team researches and analyses a broad range of topics with an emphasis on issues of relevance to pension funds, foundations, charities, reserve funds, investment and pension consultants, asset managers, fiduciary managers, and the portfolio management and investment teams within financial institutions such as private banks, insurance companies or multi managers.

Apart from the decision makers at all leading pension funds, our readers also include top opinion formers in government, public service, academia, pension associations and other professional and trade bodies. Our readership also includes suppliers of services and products to the institutional investment community, such as banks, custodians, and index and technology providers, among others.

IPE Conference & Awards

Prague

28th – 29th November 2017

The IPE Conference & Awards is the greatest gathering of institutional investors in Europe. Established for 17 years the investor community recognises this as the event where they come together to network and with other pension funds from all over Europe. It is a great opportunity to share experience, explore ideas and mix with peers.

IPE carefully controls the ratio of investors, consultants and asset managers to ensure that the delegate experience is well balanced and sponsors have room to network effectively.

The result is a world-class event that attracts nearly 700 pension industry professionals from all over Europe.

The breakdown of delegates in Berlin, 2016 is:

Pension Funds	291
Family offices, insurance groups, central banks and sovereign funds	12

Total delegates (including 43 IPE Personnel)	686

Sponsorship

Only sponsors can attend this event, we do not sell individual places or tables. A mark of the success of the event is the large amount of sponsors who come back year after year.

Sponsorship starts at £22,000 and includes an extensive pre-event promotional campaign, branding at the event, entry to the conference, tables at the gala dinner, presentation of an award and a package of print and digital advertising.

IPE.com Webcasts

IPE webcasts are an increasingly popular and innovative way of showcasing manager expertise with an engaged online audience. IPE markets the client webcast via email marketing and captures the registered subscriber details that are delivered back to the webcast client post event. The captured webcast subscriber details include job title, phone number and email addresses (subject to data protection rules).

For each webcast, IPE appoint an independent moderator to chair and host the event and help the client manage the Q&A interaction plus open and close the webcast. Webcasts are also stored on the Webcast channel on www.ipe.com where we continue to capture viewing registrations.

A minimum six-week lead time is required on all webcasts to help IPE optimise the best possible audience. The webcast can be hosted from multiple locations remotely or from one central office location. The webcast format is a live recorded 'session' of no more than one hour. Each webcast is streamed live via a custom-branded player which features the speaker's photograph, voice, slides and customisable tabs including Q&A/feedback, the facility to ask your own pre-agreed questions of the audience and user support. A recording of the webcast is available for anyone unable to attend the live broadcast.

IPE typically runs between 15-18 webcast events per year and average a range of between 200-400 registrations per webcast.

IPE Reference Hub

IPE Reference Hub is a digital platform that helps managers showcase their leading white paper and research content, investment strategies, video, key personnel and data to European pension funds.

Pension funds select and download manager white papers, search for managers, research and review their expertise and can make contact via the Hub.
